

our mission...

The mission of Bartow County College and Career Academy (BCCCA) is to provide educational opportunities for high school students and ensure a viable 21st Century workforce for Bartow County and the surrounding areas.

what can BCCCA do for you?

Bartow County College and Career Academy has connected secondary, post-secondary, business/industry partners and community-based organizations to build seamless pathways for students.

With secondary and post-secondary education institutions collaborating, students not only save money but also time by not having to repeat certain courses in college.

Area employers already understand the value of BCCCA, as they have a hand in developing the curriculum as it relates to employability skills. With that, these employers will be seeking future workforce from Bartow County College and Career Academy.

It's often said that new graduates need not only education, but also experience to find gainful employment. Bartow County College and Career Academy adds real world experience through the involvement of business and industry to give students a head start.

In short... BCCCA serves as a pipeline to both post-secondary and career opportunities.

quick Q&A

Who should attend?

Students interested in exploring their career field of choice, earning college credits, and gaining industry-specific experience all before graduating high school.

Will students still get to connect with Adairsville, Cass or Woodland High Schools?

Yes, students will attend their "base school" for either an AM or PM session with transportation provided. Hours are concurrent with base schools to encourage participation in athletics, co-curricular and social events at their base school.

Which high school will students graduate from?

Students will graduate from their base school.

How are the colleges connected & which colleges?

Chattahoochee Technical College and Georgia Highlands College will have a presence and offer instruction directly on the BCCCA campus. Students receiving dual credits will have minimal fees based on post-secondary requirements.

What does enrollment cost? There is no cost to attend the BCCCA; however, there could be minimal fees to attend post-secondary courses.

How will this save students money?

Students have several opportunities to receive college credits or take college classes even before they graduate high school, saving them tuition and fees during their college experience.

How will this help connect students with careers?

Research on business needs, growth careers, and student interests were taken into consideration in developing pathways offered at the BCCCA. Businesses were engaged in this process and will commit their time as speakers and provide internships and job shadowing. Students attending BCCCA will have opportunities for career connections and earn industry certifications.

How do I enroll? Students will need to complete a letter of interest as part of the registration process and indicate their pathway choice.
